Re: L.D. 992

Dear Representative Newman:

The Professional Certification Coalition (PCC) writes regarding L.D. 992. We appreciate that this bill aims to advance the important goal of expanding opportunities for those charged with crimes. We respectfully request consideration of amendments to ensure protections for the public and certification organizations that rely on licensure decisions.

The PCC is a nonprofit association formed to address legislation that affects professional certification programs, those who hold private certification credentials, and the many constituencies that rely on professional certification. The PCC's organizational members include non-governmental professional certification organizations, professional societies, and service providers. The PCC's members reflect a wide spectrum of professions, including health care, engineering, financial services, and information technology, among many others. Our founding organizations – the American Society of Association Executives (the leading organization for association management) and the Institute for Credentialing Excellence (the leading developer of accreditation standards for professional certification programs) – govern the PCC.

The PCC supports the goal of L.D. 992 to broaden access to licensure for those convicted of crimes so they may earn a living in their chosen profession. We agree that simply having a criminal record should not stigmatize or automatically disqualify an individual from an occupational license. It is critical, however, that licensure boards have the ability to consider the underlying facts relating to an applicant's past conduct so they may make independent, individual determinations about that applicant's fitness to practice the profession with the state's endorsement.

Not all professions are the same, nor are all criminal records. Members of the public view licensure as the state's recognition that the licensed individual is qualified to perform the profession safely and competently, without harming public safety, health, or welfare. Licensing agencies appropriately consider not only whether a criminal conviction directly relates to the scope of practice, but also whether an individual's conduct poses a risk to those with whom they would interact as a licensed professional. For example, a conviction for identity theft is relevant to whether to license a person to work as a licensed practical nurse who cares for vulnerable seniors in their homes, and person convicted of distributing child pornography may appropriately be denied a teaching license, even if neither crime occurred in connection with the practice of those professions. The PCC therefore proposes amending L.D. 992 to bolster protections for the public by adding a definition for “unrelated to the practice of the licensed profession or occupation” to read “The circumstances of the violation and the nature of the profession or occupation would not create an unreasonable risk to public health, safety, or welfare for an ex-offender to practice the licensed profession or occupation.”

In addition, so the bill may not be construed to apply to private certifications or to alter other qualifications for licensure, the PCC respectfully requests amending the bill to add a new section: “Nothing in this chapter shall be construed to require a private certification organization to grant or deny private certification to any individual, nor shall it impair the right of private certification organizations to establish and enforce eligibility criteria, ethics codes, or disciplinary policies. In addition, nothing in this chapter shall be construed to alter any requirement in a licensure statute or regulation for an individual to hold current private certification as a condition of licensure or renewal of licensure.”

Thank you for your consideration of these amendments. If you have any questions regarding this letter, please feel free to reach out to us using the contact information identified below.

Sincerely,

Mary Kate Cunningham
