Re: H.B. 6285

Dear Rep. Tisdel:

The Professional Certification Coalition (PCC) writes regarding H.B. 6285, which provides for licensing reciprocity for military members and their dependents. The PCC urges an amendment to H.B. 6285 to ensure that residents can rely on Michigan's occupational licensing agencies to protect against occupational practice by unqualified individuals.

The PCC is a nonprofit association formed to address legislation that affects professional certification programs, those who hold private certification credentials, and the many constituencies that rely on professional certification. The PCC's organizational members include non-governmental professional certification organizations, professional societies, and service providers. Our members reflect a wide spectrum of professions, including health care, engineering, financial services, and information technology, among many others. Our founding organizations – the American Society of Association Executives (the leading organization for association management) and the Institute for Credentialing Excellence (the leading developer of accreditation standards for professional certification programs) – govern the PCC.

The PCC supports reducing unnecessary barriers for licensed professionals who move to a new state, especially for military members and their families. However, not all state-specific requirements are unwarranted: substantive state-specific licensing requirements protect the public from unqualified or unethical practitioners and uphold the integrity of licensed professions as a whole.

The PCC urges the legislature to amend H.B. 6285 as necessary to reflect these concerns and the attached Statement of Principles.

Specifically, the bill would weaken the competency safeguards on reciprocity for licensed health professionals who are service members, veteran, or dependents of a service member or veteran; for these applicants, the bill would eliminate the requirement that “the department determines that the requirements for licensure or registration in the other state or country are substantially equivalent to or exceed the requirements” of Michigan for reciprocity. By including veterans and their dependents in this standard, H.B. 6285 goes beyond the licensing streamlining warranted to accommodate service members and their dependents who may be affected by relocation orders.

The PCC proposes that the bill be amended so that the provision in Section 16186a(1)(b) applies only to out-of-state service members and their dependents. As applied to veterans and their dependents, this provision would be a lifelong exemption from otherwise applicable standards, even though their move to Michigan is not required by military orders.

This bill directly affects protections for the public and also PCC members that credential professionals in regulated occupations, such as health care, in which certification by recognized private certification organizations is a condition of licensure. Certification organizations exist to establish standards of knowledge and skill for a profession, and to assure the public that certified individuals have demonstrated that they are qualified to practice their professions competently and safely. If, due to variations in licensing laws, alternative pathways to licensure allow unqualified or unfit individuals to practice, the public's trust in certified professionals and their regulated professions will be irreparably damaged, especially for occupations in which the public conflates certification status with licensure.

Even PCC members that issue certifications to individuals in fields that do not require licensure have an interest in this issue. Certification organizations – and professional societies that represent individuals who hold certification credentials – rely on the role of licensing agencies to protect the public. By their nature, they are also interested in upholding professional standards for knowledge, skills, conduct, and qualifications. If reciprocal licensure laws create loopholes that weaken how state licensing agencies enforce such standards, this is a matter of great concern to the certification community.

Thank you for your attention to these issues and consideration of the PCC's views. Please feel free to contact us using our contact information below if you would like to discuss this further.

Sincerely,
