Re: H.B. 1039

Dear Representative Carpenter:

The Professional Certification Coalition (PCC) writes to share our views regarding H.B. 1039. The PCC supports the Military Family Freedom Act's reduction of barriers to employment for veterans. The PCC urges additional amendments to existing law to ensure that Mississippi residents can rely on occupational licensing agencies to protect against occupational practice by potentially unqualified individuals.

The PCC is a nonprofit association formed to address legislation that affects professional certification programs, those who hold private certification credentials, and the many constituencies that rely on professional certification. The PCC's organizational members include non-governmental professional certification organizations, professional societies, and service providers. Our members reflect a wide spectrum of professions, including health care, engineering, financial services, and information technology, among many others. Our founding organizations – the American Society of Association Executives (the leading organization for association management) and the Institute for Credentialing Excellence (the leading developer of accreditation standards for professional certification programs) – govern the PCC.

The PCC supports reducing unnecessary barriers for licensed professionals who move to a new state, especially current and former members of the military and their families. However, as noted in the attached Statement of Principles, not all state-specific requirements are unwarranted: substantive state-specific licensing requirements protect the public from unqualified or unethical practitioners and uphold the integrity of licensed professions as a whole. Further, work experience alone is not an adequate proxy for demonstrated qualifications, as mere length of employment does not establish that a worker meets competency and skill levels expected of licensed professionals.

Moreover, for veterans who have been out of the military for decades, the importance of protecting the standards for a state-issued license increases, and the policy reasons are weaker for granting an applicant an exception from those standards based on past military service. Accordingly, the PCC proposes the following amendments to current law to ensure that the standards for Mississippi licensure are maintained when granting reciprocal licensure:

- Amend Section 73-50-1(3)(a) to read: “The applicant has been awarded a military occupational specialty, completed a military program of training, completed testing or equivalent training, examination, credential, and experience as are required of Mississippi licensees in the occupation, as determined by the occupational licensing board.”
- Amend Section 73-50-1(4) to add a new requirement (d) “The applicant demonstrates at least substantially equivalent educational, training, examination, credential, and experience as are required of Mississippi licensees in the occupation, as determined by the occupational licensing board.”

If these amendments are not included, the PCC urges limiting the application of H.B. 1039 to “recent veterans,” such as those who have completed their military service within the two-year period prior to applying for licensure.

This bill directly affects protections for the public and also for PCC members that confer credentials to professionals in regulated occupations, such as health care, in which certification by recognized private certification organizations is a condition of licensure. If, due to variations in licensing laws, reciprocal licensure allows unqualified or unfit individuals to practice, the public’s trust in certified professionals and their regulated professions will be irreparably damaged, especially for occupations in which the public conflates certification status with licensure. The COVID-19 pandemic caused staffing shortages and workplace disruptions across sectors – including state agencies – that at times slowed the pace of expected workflows. While the PCC commends H.B. 1039 for attempting to ensure that such delays do not unduly prejudice applicants for licensure, neither should staffing issues result in conferring an Mississippi license on potentially unqualified individuals.

Even PCC members that issue certifications to individuals in fields that do not require licensure have an interest in this issue. Certification organizations – and professional societies that represent individuals who hold certification credentials – rely on licensing agencies to protect the public. Our members are also interested in upholding professional standards for knowledge, skills, conduct, and qualifications. If alternative pathways to licensure create loopholes that weaken how state licensing agencies enforce such standards, this is a matter of great concern to the certification community.

Thank you for your consideration of the PCC’s views. Please feel free to contact us using our contact information below if you would like to discuss this further.

Sincerely,
