Re: H.B. 2343

Dear Delegate Pritt:

The Professional Certification Coalition (PCC) writes regarding H.B. 2343. We appreciate that the bill aims to advance the important goal of expanding opportunities for those with criminal conviction histories. However, we urge your consideration of amendments to ensure protections for the public and certification organizations that rely on licensure decisions.

The PCC is a nonprofit association formed to address legislation that affects professional certification programs, those who hold private certification credentials, and the many constituencies that rely on professional certification. The PCC's organizational members include non-governmental professional certification organizations, professional societies, and service providers. The PCC's members reflect a wide spectrum of professions, including health care, engineering, financial services, and information technology, among many others. Our founding organizations – the American Society of Association Executives (the leading organization for association management) and the Institute for Credentialing Excellence (the leading developer of accreditation standards for professional certification programs) – govern the PCC.

The PCC supports the goal of ensuring that individuals who have learned from past mistakes are not stigmatized in perpetuity. But licensing agencies and certification organizations need access to the record of certain past criminal convictions to make critical decision about conferring credentials that endorse the individual as trustworthy.

Under existing law, an individual eligible for expungement of the enumerated criminal offenses must petition the court and notice of the petition is sent to the prosecutor and any identified victims, among others. The burden of proof is on the petitioner to provide that the individual has no pending charges against them, that the expungement is consistent with the public welfare, that the petitioner has evidenced that he or she has been rehabilitated and is law-abiding; and any other facts considered appropriate. By making expungement mandatory based simply on the passage of time, this bill essentially treats these factors as irrelevant and prevents consideration of these pertinent facts – including public welfare, the absence of rehabilitation, and the rights of victims to oppose expungement.

Licensing boards play a critical role in ensuring that the public can safely engage the services of a licensed professional. Licensing boards should not be prevented from having access to information that bears on an applicant's fitness to perform a profession, especially where that information has been established beyond a reasonable doubt, with due process to the applicant. Private certification organizations also play an important role in conferring credentials on which the public relies. Certifications convey the certification organization's endorsement that the individual meets the competency, knowledge, and conduct standards required for the credential – an endorsement that may be misleading if the certification organization cannot even consider relevant past conduct.

To address these concerns, the PCC proposes the following amendments to H.B. 2343:

- Amend the bill structure to provide for automatic expungement only for juvenile offenses, criminal records that did not result in a conviction, and convictions that have been pardoned. Otherwise, amend the bill to notify any individual eligible under existing law to petition for expungement at the time they become eligible to submit a petition, and to direct the Department of Homeland Security to develop a streamlined application process, without a fee, for an eligible individual to submit such petition. This process would provide eligible ex-offenders greater access to expungement procedures, without cancelling the rights of victims or ignoring the many factors that are relevant to consideration of whether an individual ex-offender's criminal record should be expunged. Because these changes to the structure of the bill would be extensive, we do not propose specific language in this letter. If it would be helpful, however, we would be happy to forward proposed amendments for your consideration.
- Amend the bill to add a new Section (e)(4): “Notwithstanding any other provision of law to the contrary, nothing in this chapter shall prevent a licensing authority or certification organization from accessing, or requiring an individual to disclose, the individual’s expunged misdemeanor and felony conviction records in connection with a decision on the licensing or certification status of the individual. A licensing agency or certification organization may use such information solely in connection with that decision and may take an action based on an expunged conviction only if the underlying conduct resulting in the prior conviction would, if committed by a current licensee or certificant, be the basis for disciplinary action by the licensing authority or certification organization.”

Thank you for your consideration of these amendments. If you have any questions regarding this letter, please feel free to reach out to us using the contact information identified below.
