Re: HB 1461

Dear Rep. Yarkosky and Rep. Esposito:

The Professional Certification Coalition (PCC)<sup>1</sup> writes regarding HB 1461 to address our concerns that it would substantially weaken important occupational regulations that protect public health, safety, and welfare.

The PCC supports a thoughtful approach to licensing to ensure that unnecessary obstacles are removed. However, in its current form (the Committee Substitute adopted by the State Administration Budget Subcommittee), HB 1461 would abolish occupational licensing boards across a broad range of occupations, eliminating the subject matter expertise of those boards that is essential for effective oversight of licensees, regardless of whether eliminating a particular state licensing agency is in the public interest. Licensing boards that have been duly established by the legislature and on which the public relies should not be abolished without the legislature engaging in informed review of those boards. The wholesale approach of this legislation – rather than a measured, profession-by-profession analysis – will undoubtedly harm both professionals and the Floridians who they serve.

Further, with the elimination of licensing boards, the Florida Department of Business and Professional Regulation (the DBPR) would be the sole entity responsible for granting and renewing licenses, as well as for oversight and enforcement of professional practice standards and disciplinary rules. The DBPR lacks the occupation-specific expertise and resources to serve as a substitute for the numerous boards that would be abolished by this legislation. By statute, for example, licensing boards may sanction or revoke the license of a veterinarian for negligence or incompetency in the practice of veterinary medicine, and for failure to practice medicine with that level of care, skill, and treatment which is recognized by a reasonably prudent veterinarian as being acceptable under similar conditions and circumstances, among other grounds. The veterinary licensing board consists of seven members, five of which must be licensed veterinarians. That board is qualified to assess whether a veterinarian violated practice standards — the DBPR is not.

<sup>1</sup> The PCC is a nonprofit, nonpartisan association formed to address legislation that affects professional certification programs, those who hold private certification credentials, and the many constituencies that rely on professional certification. The PCC's organizational members include non-governmental professional certification organizations, professional societies, and service providers. The PCC's members reflect a wide spectrum of professions, including health care, engineering, financial services, and information technology, among many others. Our founding organizations – the American Society of Association Executives (the leading organization for association management) and the Institute for Credentialing Excellence (the leading developer of accreditation standards for professional certification programs) – govern the PCC.

Finally, the proposal to eliminate certain existing requirements to obtain and maintain licensure, most notably among them requirements for licensees to obtain continuing professional education (CPE), is quite concerning. Continuing education is crucial to ensuring that professionals stay current with standards and new developments in their profession. This is particularly true in quickly-evolving fields and in areas that involve significant interaction with the public. Broadly eliminating CPE requirements for all professions under the purview of the DBPR risks harming Floridians' public health and safety.

We understand that this bill is not in final form. To that end, the PCC welcomes the opportunity to meet with you to discuss the impact of this legislation on our members. We also urge you to consider the following amendment:

- Add a safe harbor provision: “Notwithstanding any other provision in this section, nothing in the chapter shall be construed to alter any requirement in a licensure statute or regulation for an individual to hold current private certification as a condition of licensure or renewal of licensure.”

The PCC stands ready to work with you to craft legislation that strikes a reasonable balance between the benefits of occupational licensing and the desire for free markets in employment. Unfortunately, in its current form, this legislation goes too far by removing vital protections for the public.

Thank you for your consideration of these issues. Please feel free to reach out to us using the contact information identified below.

Sincerely,
